

Dustin Dumas Weeks, MBA '96, is the author of "Lessons from a Recovering Worker Bee," written for those starting their corporate careers as well as veterans of the business world. Weeks discusses how her Texas MBA helped her accomplish her career goals and shares both her good and bad experiences in the corporate world along with lessons learned along the way. She has worked on the Chicago Board of Trade exchange floor and for banks in Germany and Denmark.

